TERMS AND CONDITIONS - EU

1. DESCRIPTION OF the SERVICE

As Internet service provider (web hosting and messaging system), OPUS supplies a space of storage of data and the services integrated into the Internet network.

2. USE OF the SERVICE

A. Parameters of the user: the object of the contract is fixed at the use of accounts of messaging system only, for the exclusive usage of the indicated customer, and extends to no other person, physical or moral. The customer can give up the contract to a third party but remains responsible for the contents and is still linked by the terms of the present contract. B. Legal parameters: this service will be only used in a legal purpose and in strict conformity with the law. The usage of the service supplied in purposes directly or indirectly with violation of the law, is prohibited. The customer agrees to guarantee and to indemnify OPUS for any complaints, actions, losses and damage (as well as the legal interests) resulting from the usage of the service by the customer in violation with this paragraph. C. One-sided revocation of the service: in case OPUS would be informed that the service is used by the customer in fine with the terms and the measures of sections A and B above, OPUS reserves the right to interrupt at once the service supplied to the customer without any other obligation than the refund prorata-temporis of the amounts of the subscriptions paid in advance.

3. GUARANTIES

Considering the nature of the service and his dependence, face to the network infrastructures in particular, escaping totally to the control and the will of OPUS, the customer recognizes that OPUS offers no guarantee on the service, expressly or implicitly. Consequently, the customer admits that the responsibility of OPUS would not be engaged and looked for beyond amounts perceived in conformance with said service of messaging system and OPUS would not be responsible for damage that could undergo the customer, including, in particular, the losses and the damage resulting from a loss of data further to delays, or the interruptions of service. Besides the customer deals personally with the protection of his data, for example by saving on another computer.

4. SECURITY

1 - Security of transfers: the transit of the information of and towards infrastructures and servers of the company OPUS are made via the Internet. During this transit, the confidential information of the customer can be revealed, without knowing the user. This phenomenon holds to the fact that the internet is a public network the constitution of which brings in operators' large number. OPUS thus makes a commitment as such in no way to assure the security and the confidentiality of the information passed on by this way. Technical solutions - encoding, type VPN's network - exist to strengthen the security without guaranteeing it totally. It is up to the customer, when these solutions are offered, to use them or not and under his total responsibility. 2 - Confidentiality: Also the data and living in our servers are considered being temporarily and are accompanied by no guarantee against the loss or the accidental disclosure. However the OPUS company makes a commitment not to make use of lists of addresses or of phone numbers which that legitimizes to assure the customer a follow-up of his consumptions and his invoicing. Also no use will be made by the company OPUS, whatever is the character, deposited information or received by the customer, except his demand or express authorization, on our servers. The subscription to our services is a general acceptance of the conditions above.

5. USE OF THE INFORMATION

The use of any datum or information received by the customer on the use of the service supplied by OPUS is made under the only responsibility of the customer. OPUS declines any responsibility on the exactness and the quality of the information obtained through the services supplied by the present contract.

6. NAME OF DOMAIN

If OPUS agrees to acquire a name of Internet domain in the name of the customer, this initiative is voluntarily made and has for only purpose to facilitate the steps of the customer. The customer gives up any complaint against OPUS, for any loss, damage, complaint in conformance with the industrial property or whatever title it is. In the same way, the spending relative to the registration of this name of domain in any directory, database of the network, the lists of members or the lists of registrations would in no case be demanded to OPUS. The customer besides recognizes to deal with the payment of the registration fees resulting from this service and from the renewal of said rights.

7. INVOICING AND PAYMENT

The invoicing of the subscriptions to Activmail will be established by period minimum of three months, payable beforehand. In case the customer would not settle the service in the maturity date, OPUS reserves the right to break one-sidedly this contract; in that case measures planned in paragraphs 2, 3, 4 and 5 will continue to produce their effects and/or, in its discretion, OPUS can interrupt or suspend the service to the customer up to the payment. Additional expenses of subscription, if necessary, will be charged to the end of every month, in particular the expenses of use in overtaking of the specifications of the chosen formula. Technical support: any request of help must be sent or by email support@opus.fr, or by fax, what will have the effect of allowing a first sequential treatment first arrived first served. OPUS will try hard to resolve any problem or to answer any question relative to the functioning of the supplied services. If all the information asked by e-mail is not enough or fail, or if the average precedents turn out insufficient and only in that case, OPUS will supply a phone support.

8. MODIFICATION OF the CONTRACT

OPUS reserves the right to modify the terms above and the conditions of the contract, with an advance notice of thirty days written sent to the customer, warning it of the nature of the change and of the date of effectiveness. The customer can cancel his contract in this occasion and without waiting for the normally planned term if it does not coincide with said announcement of modification. However, the variations of costs will come into effect only at the conclusion of the periods which the costs are effectively acquitted by the customer. The use of the service by the customer after the date of effectiveness of the modifications constitutes an acceptance by the customer of these modifications.

9. DURATION OF THE CONTRACT

The contract is signed for a period of 3 months minimum (12 months for the "passerelle SMS"). The contract will be renewed tacitly for equivalent period except denunciation sent to OPUS by email or by mail.

10. PORTEE ET ETENDUE

This document constitutes the totality of the agreement between the parts concerning the object of the present contract. It replaces definitively and irrevocably any previous verbal or written agreement relating to the present object. Any dispute would be the exclusive competence of the commercial court of Paris.
